National Association of Women Business Owners Silicon Valley Chapter Names Business of the Year 2010

Monika Miles of Labhart Miles Consulting Group Honored with Award

July 26, 2011- San Jose, CA – The National Association of Women Business Owners (NAWBO) Silicon Valley Chapter is pleased to announce Monika Miles, Co-founder of Labhart Miles Consulting Group, is honored as Business of the Year 2010. The award recognizes a businesswoman who has overcome significant challenges (professional or personal) to succeed and inspire others.

“I am truly honored to receive such outstanding recognition from this powerful group of women,” said Monika Miles. “As a long-standing member of NAWBO Silicon Valley I’m humbled by the distinction.”

Nomination requirements are:

- Nominee is an active voting member of NAWBO-SV chapter
- Nominee owns and actively runs her own business for a minimum of 5 years
- Nominee is actively involved in day-to-day operations, deriving her main livelihood from her business
- Nominee has overcome significant challenges
- Nominee inspires others
- Nominee demonstrates resilience, strength and fortitude

Monika's nominator submitted the following remarks:

“Monika has sustained her business model as a tax consulting firm for many years. Even through economic struggles, Labhart Miles continued moving to the next level. She is an inspiration to everyone who knows her. Her attitude is always uplifting and supportive. She is always looking for ways to advance her business, herself and her community. In addition, for the past 12 years, Monika has reached out to the community by her leadership and involvement in American Cancer Society Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walks.”

The nominee evaluation committee was made up of past NAWBO-SV Presidents, the current President, and a Member at Large who reviewed the nominations and voted on the winner.

“I congratulate Monika on this prestigious award,” said Maxine Goulding, President, NAWBO-SV. “She is a dedicated woman when it comes to her work and helping others, such as her support and work with the American Cancer Society. Bravo!”

The NAWBO Silicon Valley Business of the Year Award 2010 was formally presented in June 2011 in conjunction with the NAWBO-SV 2011—2012 Board Installation Ceremony.
